

Introducing Lexis® Middle East Law

Advise your clients on Middle East law accurately, promptly and with confidence.

Lexis Middle East Law provides you the definitive research tool for dealing with Middle East matters.

Combining the global expertise of LexisNexis and the regional experience of Sader Publishers, practitioners are provided with the most current and accurate information on Middle East law. The content is translated into English and is available in Arabic, so you can quickly and easily find the information you need.

Access the Middle East online library for a complete perspective with daily news updates, legislation, regulations, cases and practical guidance to specific industry and practice area.

Authoritative legal content from the Middle East

Work with fully amended legislation

Lexis Middle East Law is updated following the release of the latest official gazette index, showing you exactly which legislation has been amended at United Arab Emirate (UAE) federal and emirate level and provides you with consolidated versions of laws in English and in Arabic in PDF format. The solution covers a wide range of legislation including cabinet and ministerial decisions, decrees, executive council decisions, administrative decisions and implementing regulations.

Find related cases

Thousands of case decisions from the UAE Courts, Dubai International Financial Centre (DIFC) Courts and Qatar Financial Centre (QFT) Courts are listed by topic and linked to relevant legislation. You have the option to 'find related cases' at an individual article level and can also request full court judgments that have not yet been uploaded onto the tool. Lexis Middle East Law includes cases from the Dubai Court of Cassation (DCC), Abu Dhabi Court of Cassation (ADCC), DIFC Courts and QFC Civil and Commercial Court.

Stay up-to-date with legal news and developments

Our bilingual editorial team reviews over 300 regional newspapers, magazines and websites (including regulatory bodies and government agencies) on a daily basis to bring you the latest legal news and developments. The home page lists the latest legal news by country and you can also set up personalised email alerts on specific practice areas. Be the first to hear about new or draft laws in the pipeline.

Access the latest official gazettes and laws quickly

With our research team on the ground in the UAE and strong relationships with all relevant government bodies – including the Ministry of Justice – we obtain copies of the latest official gazettes and new laws (federal and emirate) and upload English translations within days of official release.

Reduce your translation costs

Our legal translation team, based in the UAE and Lebanon, provide you with quality English translations. Our partner, Sader Publishers, is the leading Arab legal publisher holding the largest collection of Arab laws in the Middle East and is the preferred translator of the Ministry of Justice in the UAE and the Ministry of Justice in Lebanon.

The hardest thing is to track down laws. Names can change with different translation versions, and you aren't always sure if laws you read about are the ones you already know about.
