International Content Catalogue 2014

Contents

Welcome to the 2014 LexisNexis International Content catalogue, a listing of selected international publications, products and services for our Pacific customers.

In an increasingly globalised world, we understand the nature of a law practitioner's work is ever changing. The demand to drive commercial outcomes and transactions, assist international clients and handle matters across multiple jurisdictions is increasing, as the national boundaries which separate the world diminish.

At LexisNexis, we're committed to helping our customers meet this challenge and to succeed in this demanding environment. Since we first began publishing in London in 1918, our organisation has expanded on a global scale. So too have our offerings – from books and loose-leaf services, we now offer a vast range of print, digital, and mobile solutions from more than 20 countries across the world.

This catalogue has been designed to introduce to you a selection of key LexisNexis titles and resources to help you manage your international law requirements. From Melbourne to Mumbai, Wellington to Washington, our legal content is credibly sourced, rigorously reviewed and continually updated – researched, written, edited and guided by leading experts of law.

No matter where in the world business might take you, LexisNexis ensures you have access to authoritative and quality content – helping you work through international matters and meet the future demands of this changing industry with confidence.

Kind regards,

Hong Kong's legal system is initially based on English Common Law. As of 1997, the Hong Kong courts are gradually developing their own body of law, drawing references from other Commonwealth jurisdictions such as Australia and Canada. In matters of family and land tenure, Chinese customary law prevails.

Online legal database Lexis® HK

Available on local LexisNexis content platforms, Lexis HK offers the largest local legal content in the form of commentaries, cases, legislation and forms covering Hong Kong, as well as other key jurisdictions.

Online case database CaseBase Hong Kong

CaseBase is a comprehensive online case law research tool with case history going back to 1946. It presents you with a roadmap of how any Hong Kong case is subsequently treated and covers all significant judgments, plus overseas cases where referred to in Hong Kong. It displays basic case details, catchwords and summaries, legislation referred to in the case, as well as annotating cross-references between cases. Hyperlinks to full-text judgments and legislation are included, as well as visual aids to understanding the current status of a case. Daily case alerts keep you updated on new cases of your practice area.

PRIVACY NOTICE

LexisNexis is committed to maintaining your privacy, and we want you to understand how we use and manage your data. In order to improve our services and provide better content, LexisNexis may keep track of patterns of use in the e-mails and e-mail newsletters we send. We note which links are clicked in our email communications as specific user profile information to tell us what areas are most interest to our recipients. In most cases, this information will be used in aggregate form, but sometimes personally identifiable information will be shared within LexisNexis's global organisation for the limited purposes described above. Please review our privacy statement for additional information. By supplying LexisNexis your information, you have given us permission to communicate to you via mail, e-mail, SMS, MMS and telephone to inform you about our services we deliver relevant to your industry indefinitely. If you wish to obtain a copy of our data privacy policy, access the personal information we hold about you or personal information is inaccurate, incomplete or outdated, please contact our Privacy Officer at LexisNexis Australia or privacy@lexisnexis.com.au and we will provide you with a copy of our data privacy policy, take reasonable steps to provide you with access to your personal information or correct the information. If you do not wish to receive such communications as outlined above, please contact us at LexisNexis Australia or privacy@lexisnexis.com.au to unsubscribe. LexisNexis NZ Ltd.
